

Introduction

NSW is the second largest dairy producing state in Australia, with approximately 565 dairy farms producing an estimated 1 billion litres of milk (~12% of national production). The dairy industry supports an estimated 6,500 jobs on-farm and in manufacturing in regional NSW. Many fires were concentrated in major dairy regions, particularly the Bega Valley Shire and South-East regions of the state. Stock losses have occurred in fire affected regions and over 50 farmers have been directly impacted, with losses of key infrastructure such as internal fences and sheds, fodder reserves, stock and pasture.

The bushfires have exacerbated the already difficult conditions faced by the dairy industry, with drought conditions greatly increasing fodder costs and the reliance on bought in feed. Farm gate milk prices have been insufficient to offset the cost of feed and many farms have recorded losses in recent years.

The eligible activities and costs have been determined through the development of the Agriculture Recovery Plan available on the Bushfire Industry Recovery Package website.
