

Holiday pinch points - Wahroonga to Calga

Pacific Motorway - Wahroonga to Calga

This stretch of the Pacific Motorway starts at the northern end of the Northconnex tunnel in outer Sydney and stretches about 50 kilometres to Calga.

As the key corridor for motorists travelling north to popular holiday destinations along the east coast and returning home, significant delays of more than 40 minutes can be experienced during peak periods.

Australia Day 2026

Northbound

23 January		12pm - 1pm
24 January		8am - 9am & 10am - 11am
24 January		9am - 10am

Southbound

26 January		1pm - 4pm
27 January		9am - 12pm
27 January		12pm - 4pm

Key to travel impacts

	10 - 20 min
	21 - 30 min
	30 min+

*These predictions, including days and times, are based on historical data and observations and may vary based on a range of factors, including unplanned incidents and cumulative impacts. There may be traffic congestion on other days. The predictions should be used as a guide only. For more detailed information about predicted delay times at this location, refer to the pinch point journey planning tool.