

Your time to have your say!

It is time for the People Matter Employee Survey and we want to hear from you!

Why is it important? The survey provides you an opportunity for you to have a say about your workplace – so that we can work to make FWLHD a better place to work. Your feedback will help to identify strengths and opportunities for improving work practices in your team, across FWLHD and the wider public sector.

Does it really make a difference? Your feedback in the 2021 PMES survey resulted in a focused action plan for 2022 for six key areas:

Recruitment, Learning & Development, Grievance handling, Recognition, Action on Results, and Senior Management. Some of the outcomes have included: increased support and resources for managers with recruitment and grievance management; mandatory CORE chat and Code of Conduct training for all FWLHD staff; increased promotion and acknowledgment of staff recognition through Brilliance Nominations and a gift delivered to all staff; an increased presence of senior management at facilities; and regular updates to all staff with what is happening across the FWLHD.

Can my survey be traced? The survey is anonymous and there is no way that individual responses can be traced. The survey is managed by an external provider, Big Village. FWLHD will receive the results of the survey with analysis that will be done in a way that protects your privacy. Strict rules are built into the process, requiring all answers be merged and minimum of 10 responses in any group before information is released.

We are genuinely keen to understand how you feel about working for FWLHD and encourage you to participate in this survey. For more information please contact Louise Heffernan, Organisational Development Lead on 08 8080 1500.

The survey can be located here: <http://www.health.nsw.gov.au/peoplemattersurvey> or you can use the QR code (above) on your phone or other devices.

Wound Awareness Week (15-21 August) was promoted across the District this month and Megan Jordan, Clinical Nurse Consultant Wound Management, (right) with Paul Toohey, Enrolled Nurse, Specialist Clinic – Nurse-led Wound Clinic, were pictured preparing a display at Broken Hill Health Service.

Wound Awareness Week a hit with both staff and public!

Wound Awareness Week (15 -21 August) was promoted across the District aimed at bringing attention to this hidden condition and work with our patients, families and consumers to reduce the occurrence and burden of chronic wounds.

Nurses at BHHS took part in activities (as pictured) to help expand their knowledge and skills in chronic wound assessment and management. Working in teams they 'built' their own 'wounds' using everyday food ingredients. The wound building activity allowed nurses to described wound tissue types, identify signs of infection, and determine wound dressing and care plans to promote healing.

Our nurses also participated in scenario based learning for pressure injury prevention. The activities allowed nurses to work in teams to assess, manage and care for their patients to prevent pressure injuries.

The importance of promoting health issues was highlighted when a man with an abscess sought treatment after reading about Wound Awareness Week in the Broken Hill paper, and another who sought help after seeing the BHHS foyer Wound Awareness Week display.

Ruben joins The Long Run to help beat prostate cancer

Our Prostate Cancer Specialist Nurse Ruben Hillier has joined The Long Run, in support of Prostate Cancer Awareness Month (September) and the Prostate Cancer Foundation of Australia (PCFA).

Participants will be running, walking and wheeling 72km for men with prostate cancer, aiming to collectively cover the distance to the moon, 384,400km and take research and support services sky-high.

Ruben said action was urgently needed, with prostate cancer recently overtaking breast cancer as Australia's most common cause of cancer. "The number of men being diagnosed with prostate cancer is increasing more rapidly than any other type of cancer, with 66 men diagnosed every single day," he said. "Men with prostate cancer face a 70 per cent increased risk of suicide death, and 72 per cent of men do not access support for their mental health concerns.

"That's why we're running 72km – to raise awareness of the impact of prostate cancer and the services available to support men diagnosed," he said.

For information and support, call PCFA on 1800 22 00 99 or, call Ruben directly on 08 8080 2272. Visit the website for more information, www.pcfa.org.au.

Men in the Far West region are older and the health services are often further away. "Getting the timely treatment our men need is more complex when distance is involved. This is why it is extra important to raise awareness for our men and their families to get support and get checked." - Ruben Hillier.

Tasty wound promotion at Buronga HealthOne

Buronga HealthOne staff helped raise awareness about Wound Awareness Week and didn't miss the opportunity to put their baking skills to the test as well!

An 'Oozie Bake Off' was held resulting in staff sharing cupcakes to help bring attention to the fact that chronic wounds are a hidden epidemic, with many Australians suffering with the pain and cost of chronic wounds.

Pictured enjoying the striking cupcakes are Cliffy Williams, Kylie Kerslake and Cari Fraser. The cupcakes were made by Jade Barlow.

Our Corporate Induction for August consisted of a smaller group of new employees. They are (from left) Jill Thomas – Revenue Officer; Buddhika Lokuarachchi – Casual; Corey Sclater – Nurse Manager Leadership and Workforce Development; Stephanie Wylie – Dietician; Rebekah Weber – Occupational Therapist; Leanne Tompkins – Casual and Alisha McInerney – MHDA Manager Consumer and Carer Engagement.

First dental patient at Buronga HealthOne

We celebrated our first patient to attend the public Dental Clinic at the new Buronga HealthOne since opening.

Year 3 student at Buronga Public School, Dominic Grech attended the clinic this month with his mum, for a dental appointment.

“Dominic had never had dental treatment before, so this was his first experience, which coincided with our first dental patient at the new Buronga HealthOne,” said Lisa Testa, Senior Dental Therapist, Child Dental Services at Buronga HealthOne.

“Dominic liked the dental chair and said it was very comfortable.

He was an excellent patient and was very helpful during his procedure,” said Ms Testa.

“He commented that the health centre was very big inside and that his family have been watching the site during the building process. They watched it progress from a pile of dirt to the large building it is today,” she said.

She said it was very exciting to treat the first dental service patient in the new Buronga HealthOne facility.

“It is a wonderful building with brand new dental service facilities and we’re very pleased to continue providing dental services to the public here,” said Ms Testa.

Young Dominic Grech was very happy with the dental services at the new Buronga HealthOne.

Tech upgrade for CHC auditorium

Sharyn Cowie (Manager, Telehealth, Health ICT) discussing with Tom Mugridge (left) and Andrew Lazar of Syndeticom (Sydney-based tech company) about the new equipment being installed in the CHC auditorium.

The BH Community Health Centre auditorium has had a technology upgrade!

The auditorium video conferencing functionality had been less than optimum and had not met the use case scenarios initially outlined when planning the new building.

Many of the District formal functions are held from this room and these events highlighted the deficiencies of the room layout.

The room design was to permit 50 participants in the space. When this had been attempted staff had affectionately duped this “REX seating” as things were very “cosy”.

COVID and social distancing exacerbated the issues which resulted in staff participating in meetings not being able to be seen or required constant changing of the camera views.

In 2021/22 funds were allocated to correct the deficiencies which will allow a better users experience for participants in day to day meetings, board meetings and public forums.

The reconfigured room will improve the layout of the room which will result in a better experience for those meeting participants in the room and those on video conference.

Balranald MPS donates bus back to community for sports and other uses Balranald MPS has donated the hospital/community bus to the Balranald Football Netball Club.

The old hospital bus will be used by the club and the local community to transport kids and community members to sporting games and other events.

The bus was originally purchased by the community for use by the Balranald MPS. The MPS received a new bus last year that is used to transport its residents and local community members.

Broken Hill Health Service Redevelopment Project

Early planning is underway for the Broken Hill Health Service Redevelopment announced by the NSW Government in April 2022.

The project includes a $10 million upgrade to the hospital's Emergency Department, which will be reconfigured to better meet the critical health needs of the region, including tailored treatment spaces for children and those requiring mental health services.

The redevelopment also includes an upgrade to the acute Mental Health Inpatient Unit (MHIPU), which is being delivered as part of the NSW Government's $700 million Statewide Mental Health Infrastructure Program. Once complete, the upgraded facilities will provide a modern contemporary therapeutic space with co-designed facilities for people with mental health needs, their families, carers and staff.

Hospital staff, consumers, carers and the community will be consulted in the coming months as planning progresses. Click here for more information about the process to plan and build a new health facility.

Patient Reported Measures – A Clinician’s Perspective

Implementing Patient Reported Measures (PRM) into your Service is an easy process according to Exercise Physiologist James Wells.

James (pictured) coordinates the Osteoarthritis Chronic Care Program at Broken Hill Health Service, starting in the role earlier this year. The surveys, which provide the patients’ own perception of their health and wellbeing then form part of James’ overall care delivery ensuring an individualised approach.

James uses the condition specific surveys, the Oxford Knee Survey or Oxford Hip Survey and the overall health and wellbeing PROMIS-29 Survey. He has his patients complete these surveys at their initial consultation. “This gives me a good overall understanding of the patient and indicates any potential flags to further investigate.”

Outcomes are monitored by follow-up surveys approximately three months later to measure and evaluate the patients’ prescribed interventions.

The Health Outcomes and Patient Experience (HOPE) platform enables a simple revision of survey results, including being able to view trending patient data to track individual outcomes as well as seeing aggregated data across a Service. The goal for James, and the PRMs program is that by addressing patients’ overall health and wellbeing markers can ultimately improve outcomes for their condition.

Incorporating PRMs in the workflow has been an easy task for James including learning the HOPE Platform. “HOPE is the easiest system NSW Health has. It is easy to navigate around the site and review patient data.” Training and education are provided by the Patient Reported Measures Project Manager, Kara Leonard, and include a range of implementation strategies to assist with incorporating the measures as part of the clinical workflow.

If Patient Reported Measures is something that would be beneficial in your Service, please contact Kara Leonard on kara.leonard1@health.nsw.gov.au or phone 08 8080 1412.

Are you aware of Staff Safety Talks?

Staff Safety (sometimes referred to as Toolbox Talks) are designed to be a simple way of staff and supervisors communicating and consulting about health and safety issues in the workplace.

Staff Safety Talks should be a two-way communication between employees and their supervisors, of a reasonably short duration and can be a regular stand alone activity, or part of regular departmental meetings.

Staff Safety Talks should be recorded or minuted with an action sheet / plan produced if further activity is required as a result of the Staff Safety Talk.

For more information and resources you can go to the Security page on the intranet.

Aged Care Corner...

September is Dementia Awareness Month

Dementia is not a single specific condition. Rather, it is an umbrella term for a large number of conditions that gradually impair brain function. Dementia may result in impairments or changes with: cognition, language, memory, perception, personality, behaviour, and mobility and other physical impairments. The likelihood of developing dementia increases with age but it is not an inevitable part of ageing.

Dementia is a leading cause of death and burden of disease in Australia. It is estimated that between 386,200 and 472,000 Australians have dementia in 2021 and, with Australia's ageing population, this number is expected to rise to more than 849,300 by 2058.

People with dementia become increasingly dependent on carers to maintain their independence and quality of life. As dementia progresses, carers are essential in almost all aspects of their daily living.

Dementia Awareness Month 2022 – “A little support makes a big difference”.

Family members and friends often find themselves in the role of carer when a loved one is living with dementia. In 2021, there were between 134,900 and 337,200 unpaid carers of people with dementia who live in the community. While caring for their loved one can be rewarding, it can also have its tougher days. Dementia Australia supports people living with all forms of dementia. They also support their families and carers. Call the National Dementia Helpline on free call 1800 100 500 for information and advice.

Each person with dementia is unique and so is the situation in which they find themselves.

connecting carers to support services

While most people live with a partner or in some type of family situation, increasingly many people live alone. This may be by choice, or by circumstance. Whatever the reason, it creates a particular challenge for people who care for someone with dementia who lives on their own.

A diagnosis of dementia does not automatically mean that people are immediately incapable of caring for themselves. Assisting a person to remain in the familiar surroundings of their home for as long as possible is a worthwhile goal. Carer Gateway is a national service that provides practical information and resources to support carers. Call 1800 422 737 or visit carergateway.org.au.

important resource for both people with dementia and their carer(s). Services include those provided in the community for people living at home (home support and home care), and residential aged care services for those requiring permanent care or short-term respite stays. For more information visit My Aged Care www.myagedcare.gov.au

As Health Professionals it is important that we learn about dementia, its progress and what we can do to support carers of people living with dementia. Staff can complete the Learning Package – Caring for a Patient Living with Dementia, available on the FWLHD Intranet.

Catering team farewell Terry

Friends and colleagues of Terry Cootes gave her a well-deserved farewell on her retirement from the health service.

Terry worked in the catering department for a period of 4.5 years, working across many roles including cook, diet supervisor and finally catering manager from March 2020 until retiring at the end of July 2022.

Terry and her husband Bruce arrived in Broken Hill on a caravanning holiday and decided to stay. During her time as the catering manager Terry displayed true leadership and dedication to the role and was respected by her team, peers and senior leaders across the FWLHD.

Terry had an amazing can do attitude, ably demonstrated by her response to the COVID-19 pandemic by being deployed to Wilcannia to assist with food supply, running the daily operations of the Broken Hill Community Supported Accommodation at the Broken Hill Tourist Park, manning a campervan to deliver the COVID-19 vaccinations across the FWLHD and acting on several occasions as the District Manager of Support Services.

Terry will be very much missed by all and we wish her all the very best on the next chapter of her life as she heads west to home in Busselton, WA.
